

WE NOMINATE

John Higgins Wallace Jr., one of the Princeton Community's senior statesmen, who this month — after some 17 years of close association with a major development which has helped change the face of modern Princeton — is retiring as Administrative Director of Princeton University's James Forrestal Campus, formerly the Forrestal Research Center. In a very real sense Friday's dedication of the $2.1-million Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Laboratory on the Forrestal Campus rings down the curtain on Wallace's "University career" and symbolizes all he has contributed to what is today numbered among the nation's most important, and influential, scientific installations.

It was in 1951 at age 45, a time of life when few individuals exchange the rewards and responsibilities of private enterprise for the burdens of supporting basic research, much of it in the national interest, that Wallace joined the University Administration. Months earlier the University had acquired the 825-acre tract and buildings formerly occupied by the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research and had decided, in the words of President Emeritus Harold Willis Dodds, to memorialize James Forrestal '15, the first U.S. Secretary of Defense, by preserving and building the University's potential "as a source of scientific knowledge useful to the broad ranges of the needs of mankind."

The then new assignment, marking the eighth time Wallace had undertaken the job of "building a laboratory from the ground up," presented an infinitely greater challenge than anything he had previously tackled. Where in earlier years he had brought into being establishments ranging in size from one to 15 research units, Wallace and his associates were promptly plunged into the task of planning for dozens of acres of laboratories, teaching facilities and administrative and shop space.

Four decades ago, with a sense of prophecy, Wallace noted in the annals of Princeton University's graduating class that his permanent address would be "Chemical Laboratory, Princeton, N. J." After carrying off his bachelor's degree in 1928 with Phi Beta Kappa honors, he took his master's degree here and received his doctorate in chemistry in 1932. From 1931 until he accepted the late Daniel Clemens Sayre's bid to move to Forrestal, he made his name here and elsewhere as a research and production executive with a number of concerns, including Wallace Laboratories, Carter Products and the Standard Insulation Company.

Wallace, a 62-year old native of Louisville, Kentucky, was for long years a driving-force in Princeton public affairs and shaped community institutions. A two-time Mayor of Princeton Township, the post currently held by his older son, John D., Wallace for a period of 20 years thought little of devoting as much as 24-to-36 hours a week to Princeton Hospital, which he served as Trustee, Treasurer and Board President (1953-1963). A partial listing of his Princeton affiliations would show that he is a former Board Chairman of the Princeton Country Day School, a past President of the Applied Science Corporation of Princeton, a Director, Treasurer and President of the Princeton Inn Company and a Township Planning Board member.

For sharing with the late James Forrestal a devotion to scientific research once described as "Forrestal's intellectual passion;" for his role in launching and sustaining an enterprise of far-reaching significance to the world of science; for his interest in all things bearing upon the Community's well-being; he is our nominee as

DOGS

It's YOUR dog. There wasn't as much yowling as everyone expected at Monday night's dog meeting held by Township Committee in Community Park School.

About 150 Township residents came and expressed their opinions during the two-hour session, but as one "total restraint" advocate told Committee toward the end, "Everyone may have expected the roof to blow off, but it was a good meeting."

Take-off point for discussion was a suggested ordinance proposed by Committeeman William L. Wilson.

The ordinance is a proposal: only nothing has been formally introduced and Monday night's meeting was not a legal, public hearing.

Just a friendly, neighborhood get-together. . . . at one point, Mrs. Kester Pierson protested that enforcement of the present dog ordinance seems to be "nil." She turned to a young boy, who had told Committee his trousers were repeatedly ripped by a dog that chased him as he biked on his paper-route and asked why the boy hadn't complained to police.

"Because it's YOUR dog!" retorted the boy's mother, Mrs. Philip Cruickshank. "Half the street is mad at your dog, but we love you too much to tell you!"

Then Mrs. Pierson's husband, sitting at Committee's table as acting municipal attorney, jumped to his feet and said vehemently, "It is as simple to allow any law to be violated for the sake of friendship!"

Opinion Research. "We're here to learn from you, to hear what you want," Mr. Wilson began.

Protests against his proposal were strongest in these areas: Hours, Mr. Wilson suggests dogs be confined overnight, between 6 in the evening, and 9 the next morning after children are in school.

"It's the wrong 15 hours," protested Horatio Turner. "Confine dogs during the day—at night, they should be out, protecting your home." He told Committee his dog had chased a night prowler off the Turner property.

Others pointed out that morning kindergarteners walking home, afternoon undergraduates going to school and all children walking home from school, would still be subjected to dogs.

Bitches: The provision that bitches in heat either be removed from the Township or sent to a kennel drew sharp protest.

"It's nothing but a windfall for the vets," stated K. Dexter Miller. "It's ridiculous not to be able to keep a bitch in your house."

One man estimated the average daily kennel fee at $2.50 and the average in-heat period at 21 days.

Several in the audience suggested that commercial dealers, such as "No-Mate" be required instead.

Proponents of total restraint for all dogs at all times observed that such an ordinance would automatically solve the bitch problem.

Fine and Penalty. The $100-per-day, 90-days-in-jail penalty was attacked as excessive. "That's what a drunken driver might get," said one man.

Mr. Wilson explained that the $100 was the magistrate's fine, imposed after a finding of guilt. "It is only $15, he pointed out, if your dog is picked up."

Petition Asked Control. Mrs. William Angoff and Mrs. William Enders of the P.T.A. P.T.O. Council requested Committee of the 1,439 signatures on the group's petition urging stricter control, and Harold Cenne suggested comparison between those 1,439 signatures and the 1,235 licensed dogs in the Township.

Dogs on Little Brook and Riverside school grounds are "habitual offenders," said one teacher. She told of children's hunches snatched, a child molested, children chased by dogs and a dog-plagued soccer game when "Five teachers sent messages to the dog officer but he never came."

Police and the dog control officer have thrown up their hands in defeat at enforcing the present ordinance, Mr. Wilson reported. The full-time dog officer plus a regular police officer began six months strict enforcement early last summer, Mr. Wilson said, but "couldn't cope with the problem."

"Would a broader ordinance be any better enforced?" asked Dexter Miller. He pointed out the Township's varying geography — rural woods lo-city-block — and suggested different rules for different zones.

Was It a "Bite"? Bites were also a subject for discussion. (There were 71 Township dog bites in 1968) What, precisely, constitutes a "bite" and what protects against a neighbor's unsubstantiated accusation? "He bit my child!"

To charges that a dog may bite because a child teases him, a mother retorted, "There is no excuse for a dog that bites a child. The child must be protected, whether the dog was provoked or not."

"Let's introduce this new ordinance," proposed one man, "that if owners of bitches use chemical restraints, insist on enforcement at school grounds — I'd pay double my dog license to finance that. If we still have dog-packs and kids knocked down, then we can have total restraint."

Committee brushed aside suggestions about a referendum. Mayor John D. Wallace said that Committee itself, as the representative body, would do the job.

STATE MEETS MAYORS

On Consolidation. Princeton's two mayors met for the first time last week with State Department of Community Affairs representatives to see what help the department can give toward consolidation of Borough and Township.

"I am guardedly optimistic," commented Borough Mayor Henry S. Patterson. He said that, while Community Affairs officials agree that the two Princeton can't save enough money through consolidation to offset the school tax situation, they do feel that some solution can be found.

Mayor John D. Wallace said the next move will be to examine the forthcoming municipal budgets. Meanwhile, Community Affairs people will study the 1965 Dilley Report on consolidation. Then everyone will meet again.

Community Affairs suggested a maximum total cost of $1,500-$750 for each Princeton. If the bill is divided in half, Mayor Wallace said that he will ask Township Committee for a maximum $1,000 apportionment.

Mayor Patterson said he will urge Borough Council's Finance Committee to include $750 for the study in the budget. "I am confident they will."

The state experts told the two mayors the study could probably be completed by June.

Meeting with Mayor Wallace and Mayor Patterson were John Glen, Director, Office of Community Services for Community Affairs; his deputy director, Herbert Rosen, and James Alloway, director of the Division of Local Finance.

GRILL ROOM GUTTED

At Nassau Club, A basement grill room at the Nassau Club, 6 Mercer Street, was gutted by fire early Wednesday morning. Police sounded a general alarm at 12:38 a.m. Firemen were on the scene for nearly three hours, and the few men living at the club were evacuated.

Flames gutted the grill room and caused extensive damage throughout the cellar floor. The top three floors of the club sustained heat, smoke and water damage.

Police reported the fire was believed to have started in a boiler room. The exact cause is still under investigation.

HOUSING GROUP FORMED
You're invited to Joie, Anyone who lives in Princeton or works here, is invited to join a new advisory group being formed to help Princeton Community Housing, Inc., the non-profit, middle income housing organization.

The first meeting will be held Tuesday, February 11 at 8 p.m. in Township Hall. Additional information may be obtained by calling 924-6092 or 924-7235.

Princeton Community Housing, Inc. also announced that week that Charles K. Agle, 10

The new citizens group will discuss such matters as apartment layout and type, overall plans and the way they might incorporate play areas, parks, community rooms and the like and whether the units should be semi-detached garden-apartment, or high-rise.

The group will also help P.C.H. to formulate policies on tenant selection. Membership in the group, however will not give anyone priority as a tenant.

SCIENTISTS TO GATHER
For Meteorology Symposium. About 400 scientists are expected to attend an international symposium on scientific and technical problems of long-range weather predictions at Princeton University on January 24 and 25.

The group will primarily be concerned with progress reports by the Global Atmospheric Research Program (GARP). GARP members have investigated the problems of developing techniques for long-range prediction of weather patterns over large areas of the globe.

The meeting will coincide with the dedication of the Federal Government's new Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Laboratory on January 24. The Laboratory, which conducts research in meteorology and oceanography, moved to Princeton's James Forrestal Campus from Washington, D.C., last October.

The three-story laboratory will be manned by 50 researchers and cost $2.1 million to build. Princeton President Robert F. Cohen and Dr. Robert M. White, of the Environmental Science Services Administration, will speak at the 6 p.m. dedication.

EXPANSION ON AGENDA

For Borough Zoners. Four of five cases that will be heard by the Borough Zoning Board at its meeting Thursday evening at 8 in Borough Hall involves proposed expansion plans by the applicants.

The Theological Seminary will seek authorization of a conditional use to build a new residence hall with rooms for 82 students and facilities for visiting lectures at 20 Liberty Place. Depending on one's interpretation, the three-story building is two separate buildings or one in which two units are concealed by a center passageway.

The Seminary reported the proposed structure will also be related in use to the Center for Continuing Education, now housed at 12 Liberty Place. The residence hall would be located in an E-1 (educational) district.

110 MILES AN HOUR BUT MOTIONLESS: Photographer Howard Sebrader said a bit ruefully that he had planned to reflect the McTolmer's speed when it shot through Princeton Junction Friday at 9:11 a.m. at 110 miles an hour. However, his picture taken at 250th of a second virtually froze the Penn-Central's brand new six-car streamliner to a standstill. First New York-to-Washington run was seven minutes behind announced timetable of 2 hours, 59 minutes, but return trip was negotiated in three hours, flat.

The Princeton YM-YWCA, 59 Bayard Lane, will seek a conditional use authorization to permit construction of additions to both its social and athletic units. The addition to the present athletic unit (swimming pool) would be to the rear and would be larger than the present unit. It would house a new gymnasium.

The addition to the social unit would also be larger than the present structure and would face Bayard Lane. Setback variances are also needed for this addition.

In another case, the N. J. Bell Telephone Company will ask for a conditional use for the construction of a 23,000 addition to the rear of its building at 239 Nassau Street. The space is needed for additional equipment.

Donald Pickering, owner of the office building at 22 Chambers Street, will seek the widening of two off-street parking spaces in connection with all five-story addition he plans to build.

Dr. Pickering already has site plan approval in which he provides for the 65 required parking spaces. However, he has informed the board that his architect feels he can offer better service with a design that provides for 83 spaces.

In an application carried over from the January meeting, the Nassau Street Corporation, 221 Witherspoon Street, is seeking a use variance for the construction of an addition which would be used entirely for office and retail space.

The addition would be located to the rear of its present building, known more familiarly as the Houghton Building.

HEARING CONTINUED

On 15-Story Apartment, Park Lane Equities, Inc. went through its first round of hearings before the Township Zoning Board last Thursday evening, with the question of whether Princeton will have its first commercial high-rise building hanging in the balance.

Close to three hours of testimony and cross-examination were heard on the corporation's proposal to build a 15-story luxury apartment on a six-acre plot of land on lower Alexander Street between Stony Brook and the Delaware and Raritan Canal. The hearing was adjourned at 11 p.m. by the board's newly-elected president, William J. Geddes, and testimony will continue at the next regularly scheduled meeting, February 20.

Besides needing a haul of variances on floor area ratio, yard-height ratio, lot width minimums, as well as one on use, the apartment faces opposition from the Township Open Space Commission. Represented by its counsel, William Sulphin, the commission was the sole objector to appear at the hearing.

Mr. Sulphin sought to have the hearing adjourned at the outset on the basis that Park Lane's landfill permit granted by the State Division of Water Policy and Supply had supposedly been revoked. The commission has been before the Appellate Division of Superior Court seeking to have the permit revoked. The board let the hearing continue, since the land owners had not received formal notice of such action.

$41,000 in Taxes. Testimony was first heard from Oliver G. Houghton, owner of the land, together with his father, Richard, and Joseph Canoro. Citing a figure of $41,000 as the net tax revenue to the Township, Mr. Houghton commented that "we thought the site was uncontroverted and the Township, once it knew of our plans, would welcome us with open arms."

Most of Mr. Houghton's testimony was a chronological listing of events concerning the land that had taken place since last year, after an appeal by the Township. Mr. Sulphin sought to pin down Mr. Houghton as to whether any unauthorized landfilling had been carried out.

Testimony was also heard from the architect for the apartment, Richard J. Chorlton, who outlined building plans. Mr. Chorlton commented that a Park Avenue (New York) apartment consultant had been retained "to make sure we were living up to the standards in those neighborhoods."

He mentioned sending a letter to members of the Planning Board through Mayor Carl Schaffer, and later to Township Committeemen, as well as Planning Board members, pointing out the value of the project to the Township.

Mr. Houghton said the owners had received a permit from the State Division of Water Policy and Supply in April, 1968, allowing them to continue filling the land, and that it was reaffirmed in September of last year, after an appeal by the Township. Mr. Sulphin sought to pin down Mr. Houghton as to whether any unauthorized landfilling had been carried out.

Testimony was also heard from the architect for the apartment, Richard J. Chorlton, who outlined building plans. Mr. Chorlton commented that a Park Avenue (New York) apartment consultant had been retained "to make sure we were living up to the standards in those neighborhoods."

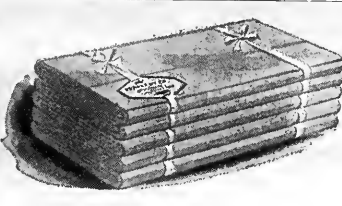

Total of 191 Units. Named "The Princetonian," the building will have one, two and three bedroom apartments, totalling 191 units overall. Two underground parking levels, beneath the building, will have space for 238 cars. A pool and tennis courts are also planned. Mr. Chorlton estimated the rental price of the apartments at about $75 a room.

In response to questions from Park Lane's attorney John P. Scozzari, Mr. Chorlton testified that only the lower parking level would be below the Stony Brook flood plain, and based on the requirements set up by the water policy and supply division, the apartment complex would not impede the flow of the brook.

"We feel that this is a contemporary building, one that will fit in very nicely, and not be a disgrace to the neighborhood," Mr. Chorlton added. Of some significance is the fact that one high-rise apartment building, Lawrence Court, built by Princeton University to house married graduate students is in close proximity, just across Stony Brook. Two other University apartment buildings, Hibben

News Of The THEATRES

"OEDIPUS" TO OPEN
This Friday, The two directors of "Oedipus the King" share the philosophy that great classics of literature and human thought should be examined by each generation to find special relevance for the time.

Arthur Lithgow and Gordon Phillips are directing McCarter Theatre's production of Sophocles' "Oedipus" in the William Butler Yeats translation. The drama will open this Friday at 8:30 and then play in repertory.

Mr. Phillips and Mr. Lithgow are treating "Oedipus" as a sacred ritual, a psychological melodrama and political parable, setting the play within the framework of an ancient rite.

Mark Epstein, a specialist in mime, has joined the two directors to coach the "Oedipus" cast in choric movement. The accompaniment will be choral responses, prepared and directed by Brendan Burke of the McCarter acting-directing cast.

Robert Edmunds, scene designer, has executed masks to heighten the primitive feeling of this ancient drama.

Oedipus will be played alternately by Mr. Lithgow and by Ed Bernard.

Samuel Beckett's "Krapp's Last Tape" will be given as a curtain-raiser to the Sophocles.

MEN, ALL MEN

In Joffrey Ballet. One of the ballets to be presented by members of the Joffrey company will be Gerald Arpino's "Olympics," danced by an all-male cast.

The Joffrey troupe will come to McCarter Theatre on Wednesday, February 5 at 8:30 as the third event in the annual dance series sponsored jointly by McCarter Theatre and the Princeton Ballet Society.

In addition, the dancers will present "Pas des Deesses" and a third work to be announced.

"Olympics," choreographed to simulate the ritual quality of the original Greek games, features extraordinary feats of athletic and physical skill.

TRYOUTS SCHEDULED

By Penington Players. Tryouts for the annual Children's Theatre Production presented by the Penington Players will be held Thursday, January 30, from 7:30-9:30 p.m. and the following Sunday from 2 to 4.

They will take place in the old Penington Firehouse, on Main Street under supervision of Jack M. Rees and Sandra M. Jefferson, co-directors. The play selected is "The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe."

The play will be given on weekends from March 13 to 29

for schools and organizations in the area. It is a dramatization of the C.S. Lewis book by the same name and calls for six human characters and numerous others, ranging from dwarfs to animals and a witch. Parent-teacher organizations and other groups interested in sponsoring one of the performances should call Miss Jefferson at 921-5285. She is chairman of Children's Theatre for the Penington Players, whose January meeting will be held next Tuesday at 8 at the firehouse.

poly celluloid lover in 1915 and Stan in 1920, playing in "Kill or Cure," before the two had turned to comedy or had even worked as a team. The year 1927 saw Laurel & Hardy co-starred for the first time in "Putting Pants on Philip," in which Stan plays a visiting nephew from Scotland who, although wearing skirts himself, is just wild about girls.

"From Soup to Nuts," "Wrong Again," "The Finishing Touch," "Liberty," "Dumb Dudes" and other pictures are among those from which split-splitting gems have been selected. One of the funniest is "the great pants fight" in which a private quarrel and a kick in the shins soon involves a cast of dozens milling around in a wild battle. Just when it appears there isn't another pair of pants to rip or another virgin skirt to kick, an innocent bystander runs over to see what the fracas is all about and is gleefully jumped on like a cat a kitten club.

"I'll Never Forget What's 'Is Name" (Sun. thru next Wed.) Another poke at the Establishment is taken by the young British director, Michael Winner, who made last year's "The Jokers." Young adults especially will like its cheeky and satirical approach.

The first scene sets the tone: A well-paid advertising executive, played by Oliver Reed, bursts into his plush office with an axe and proceeds to chop his desk to bits. He's fed up, you see, like Charlie Babbles. Unlike Charlie, he proceeds to do something about it.

It's a stunningly fast-paced, action-packed and witty. It attempts to encompass the whole contemporary scene, plus flashes of the past revisited. Reed is a lusty, sometimes absurd hero. There are a couple of explicit love scenes as well as a general sophistication to its general tone. Orson Welles gives a splendid performance as Reed's boss, Carol White and Wendy Craig are fine in their roles. There are some wonderful views of England, including a superb shot of Cambridge.

PLAYHOUSE

The Night They Raided Minsky's (now playing). This is sheer entertainment, both as nostalgia and as kooky fun for mature young people fascinated by the old days.

After the title cards read by a starch-voiced Rudy Vallee, the screen opens with grainy black-and-white footage of downtown East Side streets in the 1920's, where market activity is in earnest. All quickly dissolves to color. This technique is used frequently in subsequent scenes, and it is completely absorbing.

Minsky's burlesque choruses contained a variety of females of all ages and shapes—tending mostly toward the plump, and performed by girls who were at home in the bump-and-grind routines. There's also Eddie Lawrence as a slapstick seltzer bottle comedian and the late Bert Lahr in his parting screen appearance as a forgotten comic.

Offsetting all of the double-meaning gags is a form of

IT'S NEW To Us

CRUISE CLOTHES COME IN

Bright And Pretty. An easy cure for the winter doldrums is to browse through the cruise clothes. The colors are fresh and sunny; the prints are as bright as your garden in summer. And cruise things give an early look at spring and summer fashions. If you're wise, you'll buy well ahead.

At the red-carpeted Mayne Mead shop (194 Nassau, upstairs) you'll rediscover the charm of color such as you haven't seen since the trees turned last fall.

"The prints are gay, and the spring suits are beautiful!" Mrs. Virginia King says in a cheering way.

Her shop, with its lovely classics, has been part of the Princeton scene for nearly 19 years. There used to be companion stores in Scarclade and Bronxville operated by her sisters, one of whom was Mayne Mead. Mrs. King's shop has been the lone survivor of the family chain for the past eight years; the other stores closed when Mayne Mead died and the third sister became ill.

You'll find the labels you know well—Vera Maxwell, Davidow, Tanner of North Carolina, Taylorbrooke, Kensington Knits at the Mayne Mead Shop. Among the dresses designed by Dorothy Cox for Tanner, there are some stunning silk prints—one in shades from deep pink to

Chen's Invitation
Everyone's invited to help Chan's Restaurant celebrate its 14th anniversary this weekend.

From Thursday through Sunday, you'll find free hors d'oeuvres served at lunch- and dinner, and you'll take home a pair of chopsticks as a souvenir—all compliments of the Chan family.

Rice as it should be cooked, egg roll, wonton soup, marvelous Chinese dishes that you cannot quite duplicate at home—waiting for you at Chan's in Princeton Shopping Center.

magenta, blended with blue forget-me-nots. The dress is short-sleeved, slim-lined and has an easy, jewel neck.

Another charmer carried a double row of cording at the hem. The print is of a whole flower garden of poppies, morning glories, foxglove, everything.

We noticed a drip-dry dacron & cotton with full-bloom poppies lightly sketched in green against the white background. A square yoke of green linen accents the print.

Among the Vera Maxwell ensembles, we found two in the new Papa cloth, a rayon & acetate blend that looks like raw silk, but outwears silk. A full-length coat and dress in a rich blue is accented by a red, white and blue silk plaid coat lining, repeated in the roll collar. Six small pearl buttons march in double rows down the top of the coat, a theme repeated on the dress yoke.

Another Maxwell design in the silk-like Papa cloth is a soft blue dress with jacket, again, the printed lining repeated on the roll collar at the neck of the dress.

The linens from Tanner are simple and very ladylike. A cape-sleeved dress in a pink and white abstract hearts-and-eyes print, is cinched at the waist by a wide white kid belt—Or small appliqued silk print flowers scattered lightly on the front of a short-sleeved, linen dress with a cool, stand-away collar. The dresses start in the low $30's.

The Gentle Suit. The Davidows this year range from pure color to intriguing weaves—all with easy skirts and charming hand detail at the collars.

Imagine a white cotton suit overcasted in pale green and light linen crosshatch. The belt jacket top has four white pearl buttons down the front. Or you may warm to the belted linen in a rich blue.

WHITE, BLACK AND GRAY are "in" for spring, Miss C. Sally Harris of the 2nd Look boutique tells us. She's on a crusade to "update Princeton"—because it is really behind the times."

Turne jewelry you choose is really the outfit!" She has a board filled with piquant earrings—a triangle of 10 tiny orange marbles, or transparent cubes, or bits of glass—all colorful and unusual. The pins are large-some ceramic, some metal with colored stones.

Some of the clothes in the Mayne Mead collection do play the fine art of hiding the buttons. A Davidow dress in pure yellow wool has its buttoned jacket trimmed with appliqued scrolls. The buttons are under the scrolls. Or, beige Taylorbrooke suit of wool, silk and linen, woven with a light brown bar, masks the buttons with diamonds cut of matching fabric. You'll be intrigued at how cleverly it is done.

The Kensington suits, a fantastic item for travelers, are so packable that you can almost sleep in them. The ones we saw were all three-piece: jacket, shirt and skirt, or a shell blouse of the background color. They're very feminine in design, and extremely pretty. One of the most unusual of the Kensington fabrics is an abstract weave of diamonds traced in white and pale blue against a neutral background.

THE 2ND LOOK

"It isn't Kookle!" The 2nd Look boutique was located in King of Prussia, Pa., for quite a while before it opened a Princeton branch at 20 Nassau Street last September. C. Sally Harris, a long-legged, easy-moving blonde, has been manager here for the past several months. Linda Warren is her part-time assistant. They teamed the other day to discuss what's behind their purple door.

A lot of women think our skirts are too short," Sally said. "But when they put them on, they mean it isn't THAT short!"

She adds, "Our customers who are older women come in looking for something new to surprise their husbands, maybe. The others, in the age 20-to-25 group—this is what their wardrobe consists of."

Linda Warren enthused from her perch on the floor. "The clothes here are so comfortable they're easy—so simple. When you buy jeans at the store, they don't look well. But these are cut well. They make you feel like a woman—not a sexpot."

"A good bit is made for us," Sally comments. "So our things are exclusive. Most are just one in size, or maybe just one in sizes 7-8-9."

The 2nd Look had a representative at the inaugural ball in Washington on Monday, she said with pride. A member of the King of Prussia store attended as the wife of a Congressional Medal of Honor winner. "And she wore one of our dresses!"

Looking around, while the tune "Mrs. Robinson" comes softly from the record player, you see a substantial amount of slacks.

"Everything is coming in pants this spring," Sally will tell you. "This is the year of the mix-and-match, it's the year of the accessory. Outfits are so simply cut that the co-

What Garment Industry Says About Dry Cleaning

Many of the leading companies in the garment industry are selling coin-op dry cleaning right on their hang tags.

WHAT THEY SAY

J.P. STEVENS & CO. INC.: "No pressing required when these slacks are cleaned in a coin-operated dry cleaning machine."

HACGAR COMPANY: "Dry clean in a coin-operated machine—no pressing needed."

BRENT: "These tailored slacks are specially treated to keep their all-over, permanently pressed shape. Front and back knife-sharp creases will last the life of the garment. Dry clean only... use coin operated machine."

HEATHERDOWNE: "No pressing required when these slacks are cleaned in a coin-operated dry cleaning machine. Best results are obtained when garment is removed from machine as soon as cleaned, then smoothed and placed on hanger."

BOTANY BRANDS, INC.: "This slacks can be cleaned in a coin-operated dry cleaning machine."

We've been saying this all along! Coin-operated dry cleaning is an efficient, economical method, and we're pleased the garment manufacturers are helping us spread the good word.

Trousers, dresses, suits, blankets, sweaters, jackets emerge from our machines completely revitalized. Colors are fresh and the garments are free of wrinkles and chemical odor.

underplayed philosophical humor, especially as delivered by Joseph Wiseman as the senile Minkey. "Only a God who could tolerate me could possibly tolerate you," Jason Robards is the smooth-talking ham, and Britt Ekland provides wide-eyed naivete.

PRINCE

Secret Ceremony (now playing) is an eerie tale, likely to appeal to the art theatre devotee. Elizabeth Taylor, Mia Farrow and Robert Mitchum star. Psychosis, incest, lesbianism, murder, suicide, obsessions in the dialogue combine to achieve a kind of Gothic horror tale in modern dress.

Elizabeth Taylor, cast as a playful prostitute, meets a young girl (Mia Farrow) who resembles her dead daughter. The scene, a tender one, considers Miss Taylor to be her mother and takes her home to her opulent Edwardian mansion. Miss Taylor cuts breakfast with her gloves on, sleeps and later is soaking in an enormous elliptical tub when Miss Farrow gets in, too.

As the soap opera plot moves on, Robert Mitchum comes on as the step-father who had had an incestuous kind of relationship with the girl. Her two thieving aunts also make the scene. Next thing you know, the girl and the prostitute are at a sea resort in Holland where the girl pads herself to look pregnant. Miss Taylor leaves out the pudding, and the girl screams that her baby has been killed. Mitchum shows up, etc., etc.

Elizabeth Taylor is blowy and strident in the role, playing it with underlying warmth. Mia Farrow catches the oddish quality of the girl but indulges in a little too much manic laughter. Mitchum's role has no definition.

CLASSES BEGUN

By Children's Theatre. The Children and Teenage Studio for Theatre and Related Arts has added a new dimension to its regular classes, training students toward a professional company composed of children and adults.

The company will tour schools and similar institutions with a growing repertory program. Also, students who qualify will be promoted to the professional group.

The studio had its birth at the American Theatre Wing in New York in 1960. It was created by Mrs. Ruth Mandel Grossmann with the approval of the late Miss Helen Menken, former president of the American Theatre Wing.

Its technique, as developed by Mrs. Grossmann, is based on the interrelation of song, dance, poetry and acting. It produces a single impulsive drive coming from the actors to the audience.

Mrs. Grossmann was born in Belgium and came to this country her early teens. Her studies included research work in poetry and philosophy with Prof. Paul Schrecker and the French poet, Andre Spire.

YOU CAN GET COPIES OF TOWN TOPICS free in Laurelville, Princeton Junction, Plainsboro, Roosevelt, Kingston, Rocky Hill, Griggstown, Kendall Park, Hightstown, Pennington and Trenton. For the location nearest you, call 924-2200.

As we looked through the racks, we thought again that the young clothes cannot be estimated when they hang from a hanger. The cut is too simple and yet too subtle. They have to be tried on.

We found an attractive white crepe suit, banded in black at the V-neck, with a matching black band at the hem of the accordin-pleated skirt. ($60) And a deep-cuffed washable crepe dress, ruffled at the yoke and cuff in a very simple, yet feminine way. A soft sash at the waist. One customer bought this model in white for her wedding dress. It can also be a tune with pants.

Sundresses for the slim — are designed to wear with no bra. A bright print has a deep back crossed midway with a matching fabric band. A deep-cut linen is accented with white daisies on the shoulder straps.

The long vests are sleeveless, cut to be held together with a short chain in front. If you want, and when you match one with a kick-pleat short skirt, you have a very young and snappy outfit.

The vests look well with the slacks which come in widths of wide, wider and widest imaginable. Some are heavy linen with pleat down the side seam; some flare at the bottom. A few are wild, such as the "elephant" pants that combine Jamaican prints and plaids on one leg and polka dots and daisies on the other. After you've been at the 2nd Look for a while, you figure "why not?"

PHS Does Help Negro Students Go To College

Mrs. Vomacka Defends Record

Princeton High School's record with Negro students was given high praise this week by a former high school P.T.A. officer who decided to find out for herself whether charges made against the school were true.

"The record at Princeton High for the past eight years in regard to Negro students has been nothing short of remarkable," stated Mrs. Frank Vomacka, 8 Evelyn Place. "Instead of being criticized, the school should be commended for a job well done, and held up as an example to the rest of the country."

Mrs. Vomacka explained that she attended the December seminar on schools, race and the community held at the First Presbyterian Church. At that meeting, several speakers charged that the high school was doing very little, if anything, to help black students get into college.

A former president of the high school's P.T.A. and active during the early '80's in scholarship programs, Mrs. Vomacka decided to see for herself.

The Record. "I have spent the last six weeks since the meeting visiting the high school, talking to administrators, guidance people, teachers - black and white - and students. Here is the record: "In 1966: 31 Negro students in the graduating class, 13 entered college, 8 trade schools, 6 working, 2 in services.

"In 1967: 15 Negroes in the graduating class, 13 entered college, 1 modeling school, 1 MCA.

"In 1968: 27 Negro students in the graduating class, 13 entered college, 6 in trade schools including 2 at RCA with on the job training; 1 married; 1 in private school; 3 employed; 1 in service."

"In 1969, every Negro in the graduating class is making plans for college or a career; every student has had counseling and every parent has been contacted individually by personal letter, to meet with George Petrillo, head of the guidance department, or a member of his staff, to discuss and plan for the child."

Mrs. Vomacka added that the private offices of the Youth Center were open every night for two weeks so that parents, at their convenience, could confer with Mr. Petrillo or his staff.

"The time and effort involved was after hours, and involved personal commitment on the part of the guidance department, administration and teachers," commented. "The time and effort has been far and above the time a small staff could possibly have, when we consider a graduating class of more than 400."

On to College. She also pointed out that some students with College Board scores of only 300 went to college, while other Negro students with scores of 400 entered top flight colleges. The College Board scale is 200 to 800.

The colleges were ready, and Princeton High School was right in there, getting their Negro students interested and ready," she asserted.

Mr. Petrillo has confirmed all the figures and says they are all completely accurate.

Mrs. Vomacka mentioned a math class taught by Kenneth Michael, Princeton High principal, so that students who had not planned to attend college, could pick up the one year of math that would be needed.

So far as she knew, she said, no student "missed out" on college for lack of funds.

Michael Comments. Asked to comment on Mrs. Vomacka's research and observations, Mr. Michael said: "It is all absolutely true, and accurate. Unfortunately, some students always feel they haven't gotten enough attention, I'm a little tired," he added, "of constantly defending ourselves on this and other issues."

Mrs. Vomacka emphasized that "the Negro community of Princeton is well aware of the job that has been done at Princeton High School, and these are not the people who are complaining.

"I found that in the high school community, Negro and white students, teachers and administrators were outraged. Some were defeated and discouraged, wondering why the attack had been made."

A Dog's View on Dog Law.
 To the Editor of Town Topics:
 I may be only a dog — a young pup still wet behind the ears, but I wonder if some people might not listen to some words from a youth of the canine world. I've just gone through my first period of heat, and I want to tell you, it was hell.

Having dogs, mostly strange males of assorted sizes and shapes settled down on my front lawn, giving the once healthy green grass a deathly yellow pallor, was certainly unnerving.

A girl just couldn't relax for a minute. And to add to the indignity, my master had to fend off those love-sick males with the nearest thing on hand when he walked me which happened to be a bent circus balloon.

So you could imagine my delight when Township Committeeman Wilson suggested sending me and all my sisters for a respite during that difficult time, away from those panting, pawing, peevish males. But the more I thought about it, the more I didn't like it.

Not that I still wasn't entranced with the idea of a three-week vacation, twice a year, but that it was downright discriminatory. The double standard was flagrantly being applied. And it wasn't even a subtle attempt, at that. We girls, were going to be sent away at our Master's great expense, while those aggressive, troublesome males got off scott free, bearing no financial burden at all.

So I got to thinking about how our forced vaccinations should at least be subsidized by the males, perhaps by their paying a higher license fee, so that our kennel rates could be lowered. It would also be a sign of their sincerity to help us help them, those poor wayward souls.

Just when women in the human world are gaining that well-learned equality of opportunity and treatment (why they're even breaking into the horse-racing field), then we girls in the canine world should ask down bodily any attempt to apply the double-dealing, double-dealing, double-standard plays that all males try to use on us.

On this point, especially, all females, despite race, religion or breed, must remain steadfast.

Wednesday Program Backed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
 In a statement to the local newspapers, Mr. Frank Quinby declared that his candidacy should fail or succeed on the basis of his opposition to the Wednesday program.

As a fellow candidate for the School Board, I welcome his openness with regard to this issue. In doing so, he directs attention to what might appear to be a minor part of the educational system in Princeton. However, like Mr. Quinby, I do feel that a candidate's attitude to the Wednesday program is crucial to the voter's decision.

I believe that there is a need in our educational system for a continuing and critical evaluation of our existing educational program. I believe that there are benefits to be gained from an exchange of experience, ideas and insights between teachers, administrative staff and citizens.

Finally I believe that the quality of education is more important than the quantity of education. I am far more concerned with what occurs in the classroom, than merely counting hours.

For these reasons it is important to me that the Wednesday program be given a chance, and unlike either Mr. Quinby, or Mr. Pike, I am grateful to the Board of Education for approving a program that has so much potential for the improvement of education in Princeton.

GEORGE D. CODY

Candidate Aims Views.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
 I believe there is a need for greater community involvement in the educational process of the Princeton public school system. Participation by the citizenry, would facilitate a closer contact with children, and foster a greater sensitivity to their needs and goals.

Demoralization has affected many schools and homes, and parents and youth have become both frightened and violent. . . Greater involvement by the community can help to dispel this.

We must assume the responsibility of motivating our children. We must recognize and accept the responsibility for school delinquency and failure in our children. We must strive to solve the problems of education thru a cooperative effort which could broaden the educational opportunities for all children and could eliminate the problems of "tracking" and "grouping" in our schools. We must offer to graduates and non-graduates more and wider opportunities while striving for TOWN TOPICS will make every effort, based on space limitations, to publish up to 500 words of any letter on a subject directly affecting the Princeton area. Because of the volume of news which must be covered at the community level, letters on topics of a national or international nature cannot be considered.

Letters to Mailbox should be typewritten if possible, double-spaced, and must be signed for publication. Those received later than Monday afternoon may be held for use the following week.

closer rapport between parent, teacher and pupil. Involved in the educational process, our community will be striving for excellence from within, and the children of our schools will indeed profit. . .

The Monumental Problem of drugs must not be approached unilaterally by the public school administration. This is not just a parental, pupil and teacher problem but one which the entire community must tackle. . .

Vocational Education must be aimed at "learning to learn and earn," not simply at "entering a skill that may be obsolete in a few years. Greater involvement by the Princeton Community, and total involvement by the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce is a must."

MUSIC In Princeton

ALL BACH PROGRAM
Chamber Orchestra Plays
Contrapunctus II, III and IX opened the first Princeton Chamber Orchestra concert of the 1969 season on Tuesday evening at McCarter Theater.
Bach's No. 10, "Bist", Excerpts from the Art of the Fugue.
In fact, it was an all-Bach program of considerable magnitude that was offered Princeton concert-goers in the first of three concerts the Orchestra will present here this season.

The program consisted of the forementioned portions of the Art of the Fugue; the Concerto in C Minor for Violin and Oboe (with Helen Kwalwasser as violin soloist and Harry Shulman on oboe); the Sin-fonia from Cantata 156 and 29; the Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in A Minor, (again with Miss Kwalwasser as soli-st); and the Concerto in G Major for Two Claviers (with Mathilde McKinney and Edward T. Cone at the keyboards.) Nicholas Harsanyi, the orchestra's musical director and conductor, was on the program.

This was another fine concert

by the orchestra. The program, though limited to only one composer, was on the highest possible level.
The Contrapunctus excerpts outlined the program, were skillfully played, the interpretation, unmanipulated and delightfully straight forward. The music played itself and what great music this is! The slow Contrapunctus III, "one of Bach's most exquisite creations," was executed with such sensitivity and balance, with such beautiful tone quality from no more than 20 stringed instruments, with just the right emphasis on the false entrances of the fugue material, that one can only say,
Bravo, Maestro Harsanyi.

Faulty Instrument. The Concerto for Violin and Oboe which followed did not fare as well. Mr. Shulman, a marvelous oboist in his own right, obviously fell victim to the in-strument's worst nightmare, the faulty reed.

Mr. Shulman would not permit its performer to play freely. It affected the tone the intonation and even the tempo. It blew hard and tight, and straight-jacketed the performer to the extent that his technical fluency and brilliant tone of past performances never emerged.

A hard reed, unflexible, can be a disaster to the woodwind player, but especially to an oboeist, and the slow movement, with its extended linear writing, was made all the more difficult for Mr. Shulman to sustain, because of this factor.

Miss Kwalwasser, who was to play brilliantly as soloist in the A Minor Violin concerto, could not be heard to her best advantage when in duet with the oboe. The balance was poor and again one must attribute this to the fault of the reed.

The fact that the performance survived this major blemish is attributed to the general mastery of Mr. Shul-man's technique and artistry.
The famous "Aria" from the Sinfonia of Cantata 156 again demonstrated Bach's feeling for the double reed instrument, but alas it produced more struggling from Mr. Shulman
in order to bring off the solo.
The violin section, standing for the performance of the Sinfonia from Cantata 29, delivered a stunning performance to the famed Partita No. 3, Preludio in E Major, which Bach reserved for string orchestra.

In the second half of the program, two more concerti were heard. Miss Kwalwasser as soloist in the A Minor Violin Concerto performed in her usual artistic and perceptive style. She never overplays her Bach, but gives it just the right amount of tone, nuance and structural balance that one delights in such a performance.

Mr. Harsanyi led the orchestra in superlative accompanying roles throughout the evening in the three concerti played; the final work, being the Concerto in C Major for Two Claviers and Orchestra.
Though written apparently for harpsichords (the piano had not as yet been invented), the music (the purists not withstanding) sounds highly effective in the two piano version heard Tuesday night.

The Interpretations of Mathilde McKinney and Edward Cone at the two keyboards left nothing to be desired.
There was balance, refinement, a beautiful blending of tone colors from the two instruments and an excitement that appeared to rise and fall with the steady rhythmic pulse quality that predominates much of Bach's concerto writing.

As for the slow movement, for two pianos, (without orchestral accompaniment) both artists performed with a musical intelligence supported by a warmth of feeling that was evident in their expressive playing.

The Fugue Final brought the concert to a fitting climax, one that serves to reaffirm the genius of that master of masters, Johann Sebastian Bach.

NEW DIRECTOR NAMED

McCarthy Joins Board. Nassau Savings and Loan Association has named John F. McCarthy Jr. to its board of directors. A cum laude graduate of Princeton University who earned his law degree at Pennsylvania, he is a member of the Princeton law firm of McCarthy, Bacsik, Hicks and Dix. Borough Attorney from 1958 to 1961, Mr. McCarthy is a member of the Princeton, Mercer, New Jersey and American Bar associations. He is attorney for the Zoning Board of Plainsboro Township, and serves as a director of Forsgate Farms in Jamesburg.

The vacancy he fills was created by the death of Wilbur F. Kerner, former registrar of Princeton University and tax collector for the Borough. He had been a director of Nassau Savings since 1933.

The association currently has assets in excess of $12 million. From its offices at 194 Nassau Street, it offers Princeton area and home financing services to residents a full range of thrift and home financing services.

SHOPPING CENTER BACK
With Building Plans. The Princeton Shopping Center's plans for a new A&P building and a Bamberger's addition, will be heard next Tuesday before the Township's site plan review board.

The plans are the same as those submitted in 1967 when the Shopping Center originally asked for a building permit, according to Mrs. Sue Ann Nystrom, secretary of the Planning Board.

Last month, owners of the Center wrote to W. Joseph Shinn, building officer, asking for a new building permit. The initial 1967 permit had been allowed to lapse and subsequently the Township passed the ordinance requiring site plan review before a building permit can be issued.

Mr. Shinn has informed the Center that site plan review will be necessary, and has invited representatives to appear on Tuesday. Previous site plans submitted by the Center have been rejected by the board.

SAVINGS UP $437,000
At Princeton S&L. Savings at Princeton Savings and Loan Association gained $437,100 last year, climbing to an all-time high of $16,115,311, Charles A. Lennon, president, reported at the annual meeting.

The past 12 months saw $679,871 paid in dividends, while $90,214 was added to reserves. Mr. Lennon noted that the association's reserve position is already far in excess of requirements.

Expectations are that 1969 will be an improved year for home builders, he said, a trend that should become more evident during the final six months. "The real estate market for the nation as a whole is already strong, and will become stronger," Mr. Lennon commented, "auguring a good future for association investments."

Four directors were re-elected for three-year terms at the annual meeting. They are John B. Grover, George R. Griffing, Herbert W. Hobler and Ralph S. Mason.

Princeton Savings and Loan is paying the highest new savings rate in the nation: 5 1/4% annually on Savings Account Certificates and 4 1/2% compounded quarterly on regular accounts. Its offices are at 19 Chambers Street.

NEW COMPUTER READY
At Applied Data Research. An IBM 360/50, one of the most powerful computers to be operated by an independent data processing service company, will be installed by Applied Data Research, Inc., in its new Princeton Computer Center.

The new 18,000 square foot building is located opposite the Princeton Airport in the Route 208 Center. The computer has the capability of providing 240 million pieces of information almost instantly.

According to Richard C. Jones, president of ADR, the computer center will operate on a continuous seven days a week basis. "With a 360/50 computer and its large configuration, together with our technical staff, we can meet the computer needs of nearly all New Jersey businesses," Mr. Jones said.

Applied Data, founded in 1959, is among the leading public national computer software and service companies. At its Washington, D.C. area office, it operates two IBM 360/40 computers.

MCCULLOUGH TO MOVE
To Mohli's Paulsharo Lab. Dr. J. P. McCullough has been named manager of the Applied Research and Development Division of Mohli's Paulsharo Laboratory, leaving the Central Research Division near Princeton, where he was manager since 1963.

Dr. McCullough, a resident of Cedarbrook Terrace, Hopewell Township, joined the Mohli Corporation after working for the U.S. Bureau of Mines at Bartlesville, Oklahoma. His research at Mohli has earned him the Distinguished Service Award of the U.S. Department of the Interior and the American Chemical Society's Award in Petroleum Chemistry.

Since coming to the Princeton area, Dr. McCullough has served on the Board of Trustees of the Princeton Area United Community Fund, the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, and on the Advisory Committee of the Mercer County Community College.

Dr. P. B. Weisz will assume the post of Manager of the Central Research Division Laboratory. Before joining the Mohli staff in 1946, he was a research physicist at the Bartol Research Foundation, a research engineer at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and an instructor at Swarthmore College.

Dr. Weisz, inventor of the Geiger Counter, has been known as "Q" gas, is one of four senior scientists on Mohli's 2000-man research staff. He was elected to fellowship in the American Physical Society and membership in the New York Academy of Sciences.

ART In Princeton

KEN MCINDOE EXHIBIT
At Gallery 100, A new young artist, Ken McIndoe from New York City, is showing paintings in his first one man exhibition at Gallery 100 through January 31st.
Born in London in 1938, Mr.
McIndoe spent his youth in England and West Africa, both countries being important backgrounds for his later developed interest and technique in painting. These influences are partially described in his gallery biography as "a deep traditional inclination of the British character and the love of the greens and reds of Africa that contain great impulses of life." In 1957, he came to the United States and began studying art in New York City at the Art Students' League where he was the recipient of one of the school's scholarship prizes.

Currently, he works in his own studio in New York from which, it is obvious, he escapes often into the American countryside to find his subjects.

Landscapes. Some of these country scenes are very much more articulate than others.
All, however, are painted in a realistic and somewhat abstract style. The artist has been infrequently among young painters today.

"House with Doll House" impressed us as the most successful. Its solid composition is heavily and broadly painted.
Its color is clear and bright, and the whole effect is one of zest and character.

Still Life. In his still life,
Ken McIndoe uses this lively, direct approach most fully to achieve a good and fluid design with a real sense of colorful decoration.

"Marigolds," which is big and generous in concept, was overlaid accordingly without ever losing sight of its inter-contained idea. "Roses and Lilies," fullbloom and informal, has just the right emphasis in just the right place with brilliant yellow daisies.
And when you see "Merry's Garden," you can easily appreciate the happy style of the engaging and his results, as well as those of the artist.

AND IN MINI-GALLERY . . .
William Asman. In the tiny front exhibition room at Gallery 100, there is a mini-showing of small drawings in pen and ink with mixed media and glazes by William Asman. He is a graduate of Pratt Institute and is currently a member of the Guild of Creative Arts Show in Shrewsbury, New Jersey.

Though these drawings seem reminiscent of Heraldic art, or are Persian in feeling, it turns out that these were not actual influences at all; nothing but his own original inclination has turned him toward this highly stylized, decorative type of expression.

"Oxen of Laon Cathedral," which is our favorite, is less characterized than most, but slenderly decorative and delightful. Some pieces are non-story telling, but in other one find a satirical comment or a clever caricature—among the improbable contortions of "Tricle," for example, or in a self-explanatory "Lince Doodle."

STUART COUNTRY DAY

With Banners, Drawings, paintings and marvelous colorful banners by Norman Lal-berte, French-Canadian-born artist, are on view at Stuart Country Day School until February 3rd. Lalberte who lives in Brewster, N. Y., designed and executed 88 banners for the Vatican Pavilion of the New York World's Fair through which success he has made a world reputation in this country.
The gallery of color and design in his work make this a delightful show for parents, students and guests of the school, which welcomes visitors during weekday afternoons and on Saturdays and Sundays from 2 to 5:30 p.m.

LAWRENCE TO APPEAR
At Art Association Meeting,
Jacob Lawrence, one of America's foremost painters of pictorial narrative, will appear as the guest of the Princeton Art Association at 8 p.m. Friday in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Valley Road.

Mr. Lawrence will focus his discussion on his recent children's book, "Harriet and the Promised Land." The book, published by Simon and Schuster, includes 17 of the artist's paintings along with his own narrative on American slavery and the underground railroad.

Mr. Lawrence, a native of Atlantic City, has been awarded both Rosenwald and Guggenheim fellowships. While serving as Artist in Residence at Brandeis, he teaches at Pratt Institute, the New School of Social Research, and the Art Students League.

The artists work is included in permanent collections of the Museum of Modern Art, the Town Topics, Princeton, N. J., Thursday, January 23, 1969

"MARIGOLDS." The influences of Africa, and the gardens of England are evident in the paintings of Ken McIndoe, now on view at Gallery 100.

taken from the Pasley section.
Entry was gained, he said,
by forcing the Shagheness's front door. Patrolman Mario Musso and Frank Boccafuno are continuing the investigation.

In the Borough, Norman Friedman, 175 Hamilton Avenue, called police Sunday evening to report his home had been entered.
Missing, police said, were a hi-fi set, portable TV and a tape recorder. A small hole in a rear window had been cut to enable the intruder to reach in and unlock it. P.D. Arthur Jackson investigated.

Tire and Rim Stolen. Samuel Walters, 154 Leigh Avenue, reported that a tire and rim valued at $32 were stolen from his car while it was parked overnight Sunday at the Exposito Service Station, Witherspoon and Henry Avenue.

Police said marks on the pavement indicated the car had been jacked up and the tire removed. The car was then lowered on its brake drum.

sent a program of consensatory works by four composers. The concert will include "Gloria" from the "Mass for Mixed Voices," by Vincent Persichetti; excerpts from "Rejoice to the Lamb"
by Benjamin Britten; "Sanctus" from Ralph Vaughan Williams' "Mass in G Minor"; and four movements from
"Gloria" by Francis Poulenc.
The Choir will perform the same program at the Princeton concert and the Washington recital. Nanciannae Parrella, a former student at Juli-Westminster Choir College, will accompany the choir group.

The program offered by the Madrigal Singers will be:
"Sing We and Thank It," by Thomas Morley; Orlando Gibbons' "Why Art Thou So Heavy, O My Soul"; "In These delightful Pleasant Groves," by Henry Purcell; King Henry VIII's "O My Heart."

Also, "The Elizabethan Songs" by Ralph Vaughan Williams; "The Lamb" by Earl George, and J. J. Niles'
"The Frog in the Spring." No admission charge will be required at the concert; however contributions for the Choir's trip will be accepted.

Donations may also be mailed to Princeton High School, c/o William Trego, or by checks made out to Princeton High School Activity Fund. The Choir has already raised $200 through three bake sales and a dance.

chalk from the caves of Champagne . . .

and pure vegetable paste.

With the vastness of the Princeton Regional School System, there is tendency to be impersonal. There is no close contact. Many students are being lost education, guidance and policy are made from a higher level and are lost to the pupil. With greater involvement of the community, there will be greater assurance that all teachers will teach a child as an individual . . .
Our Community's War Cry is "Best Education Possible"; but we must live up to this commitment — our indifference to the public schools has resulted in emasculation of some of our children. Broader involvement by the community will help alleviate this; for all our children are not realizing the maximum educational benefits from our public school system, which our process should ensure and which every child is entitled to . . .

By a total cooperative effort by all of us, our public school system will indeed be an institution of which we all can be proud . . .

A GOOD PROGRAM . . . If the students take advantage of it. But William Hand feels from what he sees on Nassau Street and from the reports he has read of poor attendance so far that a great deal of effort is being wasted on the controversial Wednesday afternoon school program.

Question Of The Week

Question: What is your opinion of the Wednesday afternoon school program?

Where asked: Princeton Shopping Center.

William Hand, Pennington, carpenter: I think it would be a good program if the students would attend it. From what I've read in the papers, they've set up a number of programs the students can go to at the high school and at the Y, but from my knowledge of what goes on here on Nassau Street, I'd say a lot of them aren't taking advantage of it. You should have seen this place when we got here this morning. The filth on the sidewalk and in the doorway was unbelievable.

Mrs. Stuart Berger, 59 Marion Road East, housewife and former teacher: I'm against it. I think it is unfair to the children to take a half day of school away. It would probably have been better to start it on a monthly basis to see how it works. Or possibly set it up from 2 to 4—take just 40 minutes . . . something so that the children are not losing as much time as they are without knowing whether this program is worthwhile or not. I'm not totally against it right now but, as I said, I'm against the way it's been handled. I also object that no provisions have been made for the time the younger children will be away from school.

Mrs. Emil Lajacono, 97 Grover Avenue, teacher: I don't like it. I think the time could be used much better in a formal class. If they want to bring in guest speakers to make the classes more stimulating or engage in class projects all right, but I think the kids have too much free time as it is. I read an article in the paper about the results of the first Wednesday and I reacted negatively. I went along with what I had presumed would happen.

Mrs. Helen Ellis, Alexander Road, housewife: I think I'm opposed to it. I feel it's an interruption; it's probably very difficult for the mothers. To have one continuous week of school is much more desirable.

Mrs. Edgar W. Davy, 15 Patton Avenue, housewife: I think it will be very interesting if it works out. Several Wednesdays of participation possibly might do some good. Give it a chance and see what happens.

Mrs. Nora Cypress, Dutch Neck, housewife: I can't see it. I think they should be in school as much as possible. They really need it.

Mrs. Theodore R. Williams, 60 Cooper Road, housewife: I think it's wonderful if it is going to accomplish anything constructive. But after having the time off I don't quite understand. "Why? What's the purpose behind it? After the time's been allocated, what then? I'm all for it if it is for some constructive reason, if it is used to work on the curriculum or something like that I'm all for it. But just to give them time off for a foolish reason with no real purpose in mind—I can't see it. Students today need every bit of attention they can get. They can't get enough. We can't give them full time as it is. To give them time off is absolutely crazy.

Mrs. Eleanor Pirano, 35 Carahan Place, housewife: I don't think the kids should be let out. After all, what's a half day? They need to be in school. If you let them out, I know a certain percentage of them are going to get into mischief. They might as well be in school learning something. I don't see any sense to it.

Mrs. Donovan R. Ellis Jr., 78 Bertrand Drive, housewife: I'm opposed to it, as far as the high school is concerned, which is the area which affects me because I have a daughter, 17, there. My feeling is that children in high school are giving up valuable time with their free Wednesday afternoons. And changing the schedule every Wednesday is confusing. It raises havoc so that you're not only losing a half day, you are almost losing a whole day. I also feel that the planned activities will not be attended by many no matter how interesting or well planned they may be. The kids are just going to use it as a free afternoon. All this great effort won't be attended. I feel what the teachers are doing in their meetings could be very worthwhile, but it is not necessary every week. Perhaps they could meet one afternoon a month but I do feel to do it every Wednesday is too much. It's taking away from the children's education.

Mrs. Paul D. Murphy Jr., 181 Snowden Lane, housewife: I personally think it is an excellent program. I know my two children are enjoying it, they are pursuing it. The school system, I think it is a good idea because it gives programs for the other children so they are not being abandoned, as some parents feel. This same program is so successful in Newton, Mass. It's been going on there for 16 years and Newton is one of the best in the country when it comes to school systems. You need a good two-year trial period at least for this; you can't condemn it so soon. In Newton, this is old hat. I think Princeton needs to refine its school system. It's just been joggling along.

Miss Sheila Dorey, Blawenburg, student, Brandywine College, Wilmington: I think it is a good idea because it gives students a break in the middle of the week. It also gives them a chance to do other things or to catch up on their school work.

January 23, 1969

Number 2

Several programs are still in the planning stages and will be publicized as arrangements are completed. Other organizations, groups and individuals in the community are invited to plan additional activities for students.

Contact Mrs. Jean Logan 924-4741 for further information.

As staff members complete their plans for activities involving children, parents will be notified by the principal and teacher and their children's participation invited.

Members of the School Board will be glad to answer questions about the Wednesday Program. Also, principals in the various school buildings and members of the administration at Stony Brook Administration Building will be available during the day to discuss the Program.

The telephone number of the Wednesday Council is 924-9031.

THE WEDNESDAY PROGRAM FOR PROFESSIONAL AND SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT

Some Questions and Answers

Q. HOW DID THE WEDNESDAY PROGRAM ORIGINATE AND RECEIVE SCHOOL BOARD APPROVAL?

In the spring of 1968, the Superintendent asked a committee to attempt to bring together the various ideas leading toward a school improvement program and to prepare a preliminary plan for such a program to be reviewed by the staff and eventually, perhaps, by the Board of Education and the community. The plan was prepared and submitted by the committee, reviewed by the Superintendent, and circulated to the entire staff. Meetings conducted by committee members were held in each building to discuss the plan.

Following the staff consideration of the preliminary plan, the Superintendent reviewed the plan with the Board of Education and with the community at the regular public Board meeting in May, 1968.

Three special public meetings were also held by the Board in June to allow for discussion of the plan by staff and community.

Following these public meetings, the Board of Education approved the implementation of a program to begin about January 1, 1969, with the agreement that the preliminary plan would be further developed and modified — to reflect Board and community suggestions — and reviewed again by the Board in the Fall of 1968. At the October 29, 1968 meeting, the Board of Education approved the implementation of the Wednesday Program to begin January 8, 1969.

Q. DOES THIS PROGRAM RECEIVE MONEY FROM THE SCHOOL BUDGET?

Yes, The 1968-69 school budget has an allocation of $1600. Slightly more than half of this amount will be spent on paper and postage for community newsletters. Less than half is available for transportation expenses. Limited federal funds have also been used to support the program. These funds were made available within the budget of an already approved in-service training program and could not be used for other general purposes.

Q. WHY IS THE COMMUNITY ACTIVELY INVOLVED IN THIS PROJECT?

Recognizing that education is a civic responsibility, the school is inviting citizens to participate in the Program. This participation should serve both school and community. Citizens may gain new perspectives on school problems. They may make their opinions felt in the decision-making stages rather than responding to events and decisions that have already been determined. Staff members and citizens should find a regular exchange of viewpoints mutually instructive and stimulating.

We're Overwhelmed

When the Joint Recreation Commission announced an ice skating instruction program this month it thought it was a small thing. It might attract 50 people. So far, more than 200 have signed up and registrations are still coming in. "We've been overwhelmed," said R. Donald Barr, executive director of the commission. Classes are held when weather permits Monday and Wednesday afternoons from 3:30 to 4:30. The instructors, who have volunteered their time are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Barnett. "I think the number registered is an indication of a possible need for another ice rink in Princeton," commented Mr. Barr.

PUBLIC MEETING SET
For Discussion on Pools. Although the opening of the third season for the Community Park pool complex is still five months away, the Joint Recreation Board is already looking over its collective shoulder. Twice before, the board has gone under in jousts with the community over pool policies, fees and scholarships. It is determined not to go down a third time.

The board has scheduled a public hearing for Wednesday, February 5 at 8 p.m. in Room G-25 (the old social room) at Princeton High School. Citizens with comments, suggestions or proposals concerning the pools' operation are urged to put them in writing preferably and mail them to R. Donald Barr, Executive Director, Joint Recreation Commission, Township Hall. "They will be discussed prior to the meeting and taken into consideration," Mr. Barr said.

If you are in agreement with the present pool policies, write that, too, Mr. Barr added. "Often we wonder: 'If you make changes, are you making them for the entire community or just to suit a more vocal minority who are displeased.'"

Those who prefer not to write are invited to voice their opinions at this meeting. If necessary, those wanting a second chance can get it two weeks later, February 19, when the board will hold its regularly scheduled meeting.

Said board member Dean W. Chase at the group's January meeting last week, "I consider this the most important issue facing this board. It's got to be solved, and quickly." A moment earlier, he had remarked, "On balance, as far as pool policies and the free swim periods are concerned, I think we didn't come up with the ultimate answers. I think they have to be changed."

Advisory Board? The bulk of the meeting was devoted to an informal discussion of the pros and cons of appointing a citizens advisory committee to make recommendations to the board. It was prompted by a letter Mr. Barr received last month from Mrs. Vivian F. Carlin, 228 Terburne Road.

This past summer, Mrs. Carlin had written another letter to the board, listing a number of suggestions, the most important of which she felt was the appointment of a citizens advisory committee. She wanted to know why nothing had been done. Clearly, the board was divided on the issue Mrs. Carlin raised.

Mr. Chase stressed that he believed the board was under an obligation to go to representative people in the community for their advice. "Seven or eight people are not going to lick this," he said. "A few people are very keen about this. They'll holler and fidget until we won't be able to do anything else."

Ninety percent of the time we spend talking about pool fees. To spend that amount of time on an issue like this is ridiculous. Meanwhile, Route 206 sits there we do nothing about it. The reason is," he concluded, "is that we are not communicating first-hand with

ACT II: 5 YEARS LATER
Jadwin Gym Ready to Open

Nearly five years after ground was broken for Princeton University's Jadwin Gymnasium, it will open for its first athletic event. To mark the long-awaited occasion, Pennsylvania will play Princeton in basketball Saturday at 2 o'clock, and expectations are that every one of the 6,500 seats placed on sale will have been purchased before the doors to the $6 million structure open.

Lending welcome visibility to the proceedings will be television coverage provided by NBC (Channels 3 and 4) as part of the weekly Saturday matinee series sponsored by the Eastern College Athletic Conference. Television for the Jadwin opener is coincidental—the game had been selected as part of the ECAC program a number of weeks ago, and when Jadwin was not ready for the Duke game in December, the fact that it would open with a game already set for living room viewing was icing on the cake.

Although an earlier ground-breaking than had been planned became possible for the new gymnasium, hopes for its completion on a basis of the schedule originally announced slowly dimmed. It was once hoped that the first basketball game would be played there in the late fall of 1967, but as delays ranging from steel shortages to construction problems and steadily mounting building costs were encountered, the site of all winter athletic contests booked for Jadwin were switched back to Dillon Gym—or, in the case of indoor track—to Lawrenceville's Lavinia Field House.

Then the winter of 1968-69 became the target date. Announcement was made last spring that the first event would be the Duke-Princeton

Jadwin Is for Everything

It's easier to list the four sports for which Jadwin Gymnasium will not be used than it is to name the many Princeton teams which will play or practice in the huge structure. There are no plans for golf (although you could hit eight irons from the dirt floor on the lower level), and there is no ice for hockey or water for swimming or rowing.

Every winter sport other than swimming and hockey will hold its contests there: basketball, track, wrestling, fencing and squash (13 courts). The rubberized track has a 210-foot straightaway, four lanes for hurdles, six for sprints and eight laps to the mile. Football and soccer teams can practice in the lower level on rainy days in the fall. Tennis, lacrosse and baseball will get a big jump on lardy spring weather—there's room for a regulation infield and space for a total of 10 tennis courts. Total cost: $6.5 million.

matter of 12 months to 18 months at least.

Further work to be done. A final detailed look at Jadwin's progress as recently as January 10 was the basis for the decision that it could accommodate two basketball teams, a television crew and some 6,500 spectators this weekend. Additional finishing touches will be applied in the coming weeks (ranging from completion of certain portions of the interior, particularly many of

A Look at Other "First Games" Dating Back to 1914

If Princeton defies Pennsylvania in basketball Saturday, the new Jadwin Gymnasium will join Palmer Stadium, Baker Rink and Dillon Gym as homes of Tiger athletic teams when the Orange and Black victorious in its first games there.

If the visitors win, Jadwin will join Dillon Pool and Clarke Field as sites which, on an opening day, at least — were friendly to the opposition.

Palmer Stadium was dedicated on Saturday, October 24, 1914, with Dartmouth in town for the occasion. Coach Wilder Penfield's Tigers won, 16 to 12.

Baker Rink opened January 9, 1921, with an exhibition game between the St. Nicholas Hockey Club and Princeton, the latter winning, 3 to 2. In the first intercollegiate game next day, against M.I.T., the Tigers achieved a 6-0 shutout.

Dillon Gym opened December 10, 1947. Princeton edged Lafayette in basketball, 10 to 46.

A little more than a year later, Dillon Pool was ready for its first major use. On the cold but sunny day, Princeton and New Brunswick for two and three years following destruction by fire of the old University Gym and Brock Pool, Princeton dominated swimming as a sport for 1947-48. The first meet in the new pool — on January 12, 1949 — was won by Rutgers, 40 to 27.

For seven years passed before the Tigers opened an indoor track meet. On the cold but sunny day of the afternoon of March 31, 1961, the ball team lost to Massachusetts, 4 to 2.

to the offices, to the installation of another 1,000 seats which will bring total capacity to 7,500, but the eye-filling new structure will be ready on Saturday.

Formal dedication of the building will be held on the afternoon of Saturday, March 1, when an indoor track meet involving Princeton, Harvard and Yale will be held. L. Stockwell Jadwin, in whose memory it has been built, was captain of the track team here in 1928.

SLOW MOTION DUE?

Penn Coach Farhat to It. Will the thousands on hand for the first game in Jadwin and the audience watching the regionally-televized contest see a smooth stall engineered by Penn coach Dick Harter? It's entirely possible, not only because Harter is partial to such tactics but because last week he achieved the biggest upset of his three years as the Quakers' coach by slowing down action against Villanova to a crawl.

No better than 6-6 going into the game, Penn defeated the 10th ranked Wildcats by freezing for long periods of time in the second half and holding the Minutemen to 12 points in the last 20 minutes. It was a 32-30 final, the winning basket coming with just three seconds left.

Harter used identical time-killing tactics in Dillon Gym two years ago, eventually losing, 25 to 16. Last winter, he achieved an upset of highly-regarded La Salle through such measures, and undoubtedly he became even more partial to them as a result of his success against Villanova.

As a matter of fact, had Penn gone into a freeze during the second half of its game with the Tigers on January 3, it might well have won that contest. The Quakers held a 49-41 margin in the Palestra with ten minutes left, and were beaten only because they shot unadvisedly, giving Princeton the opportunity to outscore them, 19 to 7, as the clock ticked away. It was a 59-56 defeat for Penn, and one that may have given Harter second thoughts about strategy for the return game here.

Although he has fair bench strength, Harter went with just five players against Villanova: 6-8 Jim Wolf, a sophomore center; Captain Pete Andrews, 6-6, and 6-5 Jeff Osowski, both seniors, up front with Wolf; sophomores Dave Wohl and Steve Bilsky in the backcourt. They are obviously good ball handlers to be able to freeze for as long as they did against Villanova.

Having seen Jeff Pettie's occasional 10-point performance marked by a combined 50-point performance against Dartmouth and Harvard, the Tigers are likely to try more of the same when they resume action after the exam break. Tom Chestnut, who hit for 17 points in a reserve capacity against Harvard, may be set

SEXTET BACK IN ACTION

Tigers Play Here Thursday. The Princeton hockey team will play an exhibition game Thursday night at 8 in Baker Rink against the St. Nicholas Club, prior to resuming its intercollegiate schedule Saturday at Hanover, N.H.

For the first time in five years, the Nicks will skate here without any of the Cook brothers of Kingston on their roster. Pete is in Paris, teaching at the American School; John is with First National City Bank in Milan (and working for an Italian team); Steve is a Navy pilot currently based in Corpus Christi, Texas. The latter, youngest of the three Princeton alumni, did skate with the Nicks for three of their games in early January while here on leave.

The Tigers will play Dartmouth (3-6-2) Saturday night at Hanover, hoping to better their 1-10 record at the expense of an Indian sextet, which scores well but has defensive problems. The Green recorded total of 16 goals against Army, Brown and Yale, yet won only a single victory in the three starts. It defeated the Elis, 4-3, but was tied by Army, 7-7, after losing a 6-1 lead, and deadlocked Brown, 5-5, in a non-ivy contest.

Boston University will be here next Wednesday night and Providence comes to Baker Rink 24 hours later. Mid-winter statistics show that goalie Middy Fighman's average of 3.5 goals allowed per game is among the east's best, but that the team's record of 1-8 on offense is near the bottom of the statistical ladder.

SKATERS BOW TO PDS

Demarest Here Friday. When freshman Steve Sanford rifled in a backhand shot, skid skidded under the outstretched legs of Princeton Day School goalie Chris Reeve in the second period, and Princeton High School hockey team accomplished something Friday that the Little Tigers failed to do in two tries the year before: score a goal against PDS.

The final score of 5-1, PDS, was not as lopsided as many thought it would be. PHS is now 1-3.

PHS Friday at 6:30 on the PDS side of a 4-3 record. Coach Tom Murray described the remaining half of the schedule as "tough," but he added, "we hope to keep on going."

Hun was scheduled to meet the Little Tigers this Wednesday afternoon at PHS. Friday, PHS will travel to Franklin for a 3-45 dual meet and on Wednesday the team will be at Lawrenceville. The latter will start at 3:30. Franklin appears to be the biggest test of the three.

At Colonia Friday, after 157-pounder Maury Peabody of PHS got caught in a takedown and pinned, the home team tied, 16-15 with three matches remaining. However, PHS is normally strongest in the up-bell weights and that proved to be the case again.

Nick Arcaro pinned his man in seconds in the 168-pound class to Paris, the lead to PHS, 20-16. Chris Mislou, 173 pounds, and heavyweight Lou-

John Mislou made decisions to make it a 26-16 final.

Mark Evans, Bobby Moore, Andy Alpert, Greg McClain and Hank Wilkinson. Wilkinson, Princeton's undrafted captain, decided a former Union County champion.

Earlier in the week, PHS lost just three hours in scoring a lopsided victory over Trenton High School. In this match, Arcaro pinned his man 28 seconds which prompted Murray to comment, "Nick has spent less than a minute on the mat in his last two matches."

FACULTY TOPS ALUMNI

Trotman Scores 38. The first annual (it is hoped) PHS faculty vs. alumni basketball game, which could have been played for laughs, was far from that. As played Friday night at the PHS gym, the first confrontation was a serious matter from start to finish and the result was anything but funny for the alumni, who lost, 102-90.

With a squad numbering more than twice that of the faculty's nine and with youth on its side, the alumni figured to overwhelm the firing faculty—especially when it was agreed to play 10 minute quarters. What the alumni hadn't counted on was a remarkable 38 point performance by ankleless Marvin Trotman—26 coming in the second half.

Whatever it was Trotman had when he dominated the PHS court with his play in the early '60s, he has never lost it. Points, 68 through 86 were all scored by Trotman with the exception of two baskets by Art Ware. He combined with Larry Ivan, PHS coach, on some parsing and playmaking that brought oohs and aahs from the audience. It was a display of basketball expertise that has been seen less and less on the PHS court.

Two other faculty players shared the spotlight with Trotman. Larry Ivan started slowly and a few early mistakes brought some good natured hisses from the students but at the end Larry was in command, connecting on hook shots, setting up plays. He scored 29 points, including the last four. His two foul shots, the 99th and 100th points for the faculty, brought a cheer from the crowd. Then there was Art Ware, a former Lean and Arch, without an ounce of fat. Ware was hungry on the court. He played as if a title was at stake, at one time crashing into the stands in pursuit of the ball. Time and again, after a melee under the boards, Arch's hand would shoot up, signaling he had gotten the tap-in.

At one point in the third quarter with the score 57-55, faculty, Arch put two three-point plays back to back to give the faculty a 62-53 bulge. The alumni were never able to close thereafter. Arch finished with 22 points as he, Ivan and Trotman combined for 89 points.

Faculty Starter. The alumni started with Trotman from Elizabeth College; Ivan from Oklahoma; Freeman from Springfield College; Bill Humes from Lyncoming; and Art Ware, PHS jayvee basketball coach from Columbia. On the bench were Earl Owens of the PHS coaching staff from Trenton State; Ken Michael, PHS principal from Eastern Illinois; Ron Wilton from Montclair State; and R. Donald Barr, Princeton Recreation director, from Springfield. Owens and Ware made eight and five points to round out the faculty scoring.

The alumni, coached by Rich Vomacka and Bob Smith, had in its line up three former Wolman Award winners: George Tucker, Kerry Klink and John McPhee, as well as the former all around PHS athlete of 1963, John Kowalski Smith-on.

The alumni started fast. Baskets by Tucker, a long push by Buddy Britton, an underhand layup by Willie Hill and a bucket by Smith-on plus a free throw by Tucker gave the alumni an early 9-2 lead.

Tucker, in particular, was effective. He twisted and turned under the basket, displaying all kinds of moves. He was high for the baskets with 36 points. Charlie Madden from the PHS squad two years ago, wound up with 16 points, eight coming in the last quarter; two of those, despite his weight and size, a picturesque steal and layup the length of the court.

Smith-on, slowed by excess poundage, was still effective under the boards for the alumni. He scored 11. Buddy Britton, now a postal employee and Willie Hill, who excelled on Marine basketball teams after his graduation, each added eight points.

Jack, a member of the PHS all-state football team of '59, had seven points and 15. Jaz, four, Kerry Kink and Bob James added three more each and Bill Bartolino, two. Although he scored only one basket, John McPhee contributed a stylish one-handed effort that Bill Bradley of Princeton drove to a senseless Where You Are" would have appeared.

McPhee, a member of the PHS basketball and tennis teams of 1948 and a graduate of Princeton University and Cambridge, didn't play as often as some. Although he was the oldest player on the alumni, he also looked as if he were in the best shape. That might have been one of the alumni's coaching mistakes.

Others on the alumni squad were Bucky Boccanfuso, Dominick Mastrolino and Bryce Chase.

Officials Alumni, Too. Both officials were also Princeton High School graduates. Jake Bartolino was captain of the 1959 football team and a member of the 1951 played football and basketball teams. Miles Truesdale '51, played football and basketball for PHS.

Finally, there was Ken Michael, who may have put on a few pounds since his days at Eastern Illinois, but he acquitted himself well. He didn't score but he took some punishment. Not long after he was in he was flattened under the boards while chasing the ball and the announcer remarked, "Everybody has something against Mr. Michael."

A second time he was leveled in the back court. He got up a bit more slowly this time. Before he shook it off, he must have wondered for a second, "What am I doing out here? These guys are playing for keeps."

But Ken Michael, like the game itself, had class all the way. Those who missed it shouldn't make the same mistake next year.

PDS BREAKS FOR EXAMS

After Three Court Losses. A ten-day break for mid-term examinations will provide a welcome rest for the Princeton Day School basketball team and give the Panthers a chance to regroup after three losses in the space of four days last week. After an opening win against Wardlaw, PDS' record has tumbled to 1-3.

The Blue and White's next contest will be against the Lawrenceville varsity "B" team at 4 p.m. away. On Friday, January 31, the team will return to its home court to meet MacArthur Military Academy.

The third loss last Saturday afternoon, came pretty much as expected at the hands of a Princeton Prep team. The quietest, that has the Penn-Jersey league title all but wrapped up. The game was close only in the opening minutes, as Iliun spurted to a 25-14 first period lead and built it up from there.

Leading, 80-48, at the end of the third quarter, Hun coach Dave substituted freely, enabling PDS to make the final score a more respectable, 96-77. PDS' Craig Page played another outstanding game leading all scorers with 31 points, earning just as many buckets against the Hun first string as against the reserves. Tom Spain picked up 16 and Calvin Johnson 13.

Friday, the Panthers ran into a streak of bad luck in the fourth quarter against Morris-town Prep, that ultimately resulted in a 59-44 loss. After a poor first quarter, during which they could only score five points, PDS found the basket and led 15-9 at the half, as Morrisstown wasn't having much better luck on its own court. The winners closed the gap in the third stanza, however, and the contest was tied, 40-40, at the beginning of the fourth period.

Then, in quick succession,

PDS lost three of its starters, as Johnson twisted his knee, Randy Martin, received a badly sprained ankle, and Page fouled out. When the buzzer rang, Morrisstown had pumped in 19 points, while PDS, forced to rely heavily on reserves, could only manage four. Page was high with 16, followed by Spain with 12 and Johnson with 10.

A missed lay-up with less than ten seconds remaining cost the Panthers a chance for a victory against Englewood last Wednesday. With time about to run out and Englewood ahead by a basket, PDS got possession of the ball, but missed a short shot that would have sent the contest into overtime. Englewood came away with a 65-62 victory, after sinking a foul shot.

TWO MORE FOR HUN
Team 6-9 on Court, Hun School's basketball team chalked up two more easy victories last week to preserve its unblemished record, now 6-0, as the Red and Black moved inexorably closer to its second straight Penn-Jersey League championship.

Saturday afternoon, Hun blasted rival Princeton Day School, 96-77, for win No. 6.

Earlier in the week, it conquered a second, more area rival, when it stopped Pennington School, 74-61.

Hun was scheduled to enter into Lawrenceville School in its new gym, in a non-league contest set for 2:30. Coach Dave Leece called it "Probably our biggest game of the season." Lawrenceville is currently 3-2.

Hun will resume league action when it travels to Bryn Athyn for a Saturday contest. An earlier Hun victim this season, Perkasie, will play Hun here Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

"Things are going so smoothly—and easily—for Hun this year it's almost scary. The only cloud Leece can see on the horizon is the return of two of last year's starters to the George School team. One measures 65. 'They're going to be tough,' said Leece. Hun and George School battled down to the wire last year for the championship. Hun winning the deciding game with George in overtime.

Against PDS Saturday, Hun opened a quick 25-14 first-period lead. Twenty-four minutes later, at the end of the third quarter, it had poured in 80 points to Princeton Day's 48.

Leece used his second team for half of the second quarter and for all of the final period. He described the final total of 96 as "a lot of points for 32 minutes."

As always, Hun's starting five accounted for most of the points. "They're the ones who have been doing it," Leece said. Herm Secker was hit with 22, followed by Mike Ma-

Wrestling Match to Benefit Injured Athlete

A wrestling meet between Hopewell Valley Central High School and Lawrence High will be held Friday night at 6:30 in the Central High School gym for the benefit of one of the school's outstanding athletes who has been hospitalized with a brain injury.

On December 18, while exercising in the gymnasium, Jim Burd suffered a brain hemorrhage. Vice president of the junior class, Jim was co-captain of the school's wrestling and track teams and a member of the varsity soccer team.

Although his doctors are hopeful of an eventual full recovery, he has been in the hospital ever since in critical condition. Students, friends and the faculty at Central High have organized Jim Burd Night to help his family meet medical bills and to pay tribute to Jim's service to his school.

Tickets ($1) may be bought at the door or by calling Patty Heltyer at 737-2348 or James Byrnes at 737-3460. Special donation tickets are available to those who cannot attend. Contributions may be sent to the Jim Burd Benefit, Hopewell Valley Central High, Pennington, N. J.

gure, 20; Mike Rossi and Don Silverman, 11 each; and Nat Williams, 10. Craig Page of PDS was the game's leading scorer, however, with 34.

Hun deflated any upset thoughts Pennington might have entertained as it stunted its neighbor with a 22-2 first quarter. Hun combined an effective press with some pinpoint outside shooting to defeat Pennington.

Captain Silverman had 25 points, two under Pennington's Bob Turner, who scored a game high 27. Secker had 19, Maguire 16 and Williams 12.

CAGERS LOSE ELEVENTH
 56-36 to Somerville. Princeton High School's meeting with Somerville Tuesday afternoon had a familiar ring to it. Too familiar for the scholastic players, who dropped their eleventh straight decision, 56-36.

Tied 19-all at the half, PHS connected on only two of 14 shots in the third quarter, while the home team Pioneers were scoring 18. Somerville added 19 more in the final period to win its ninth game in 11 starts.

Johnny Madden (33 points) and Billy Brooks (10) were the only two Little Tigers to reach double figures. Paul Ridell's 26 points led the PHS junior varsity to a 68-25 victory. The Jayvee team with an 81 record is the lone bright spot in basketball at PHS this season.

HAMILTON HERE FRIDAY

In PHS Court Test, Princeton High School's basketball team will face Hamilton High here Friday evening at 8. A junior varsity contest starts at 6:30.

Hamilton (7) is one of three contenders in a four-way battle among Cathedral, Trenton and Notre Dame for Mercer County honors. In a holiday tournament, the Hornets defeated PHS, 72-52, and they will have a home court advantage again on Friday.

Tuesday afternoon, Madison Township will invade the PHS gym for the only meeting between the two schools this season. Tapoff is set for 3:45.

MONTCLAIR TOPS PHS

In Hockey, 7-1, Mark Lenfes of Princeton High scored the game's first goal, but Montclair High School scored the upset win in the varsity boys' hockey game. PHS, 7-2, Tuesday evening at the Princeton Day School rink. PHS is now 1-4.

Actually, PHS scored the game's second goal, too, but it was called back on a penalty which coach John Post labeled "questionable." After the goal, "we just sat out apart. We couldn't skate well."

TENNIS TRIP PLANNED

To Philadelphia. The Youth Tennis Foundation of Princeton is planning a trip to the tennis playoffs to the Philadelphia International Tournament on Saturday, February 14. The trip will include a morning clinic conducted by tennis star Pancho Gonzales. The trip also provides admission to the afternoon tennis competition, and a connection to the newly formed Youth Tennis Foundation.

Tickets may be purchased at the Princeton Public Library, 600 Calhoun Drive, William House, 168 South Harrison Street, or the junior co-op store, Mike's, 100 Princeton High School, and Mary Lapidus, at Princeton Day School.

TEAMS PLAY 2ND GAME

In South Brunswick League, Eddies, Rosloff, and Smith's Agency defeated Nassau Printers, 67-59, to hold first place after the second week of play in the South Brunswick Township Industrial League.

Tony Boccanfuso led the Printers' scoring with 13 points, followed by Rich Volz with 11. In other action, Reggie's Tavern downed the Villagers, 77-68, and Trent Construction scored a basket in its last three seconds of play to beat the Elks, 69-67.

NCA EDGES BORO 66-64

To Take 1st in YMCA League. Undeclared NCA edged Boro, 66-64, breaking a tie for first place between the two YMCA basketball League teams.

Bones Gilbert tallied 24 points, backed up by Joe Cyprorski's 18-point effort, to lead NCA to its sixth consecutive victory. Charles Madden and Tim Michael scored 15 points each for Boro, now 5-1.

Behind Jerry Migliacci's 21 points and John Dixon's 18, PNC topped Hospital, 56-35, to move into a tie for second place with Boro. Higher scorer for Hospital, which is winless after six outings, was Jim Young with 16 points.

ERC held on to fourth place by defeating Boys Club, 67-46. The score was even at the half-time, but ERC held its opponents to two points in the third quarter to secure the victory.

In other action, RCA downed BALPCB 48-41 and Cyanamid defeated ETS, 77-64, behind Charles Corbett's 31 points. ERC is in fourth place with a 1-2 record, followed by Boys Club, 3-2, RCA, 3-3, Cyanamid, 2-3, ETS 1-5, Hospital, 0-6 and BALPCB, 0-6.

Wille Rosso's 183 was the week's game of note in the Blue Angels H-Y League, where Turkeys is on top with 20 points.

CRANBURY BANK: 2465

For New Team Mark, Cranbury Bank leveled pins at a record-setting pace last week at the Highglow Lanes to establish a new high score in series of 2485 in the Princeton Women's Bowling League.

Marilyn Marbury of the bank had an exceptional 234 first game, ending with a 564 series. Teammates Betty Pincill and Helen Lowe had 243 and 171 respectively. Their efforts left Cranbury in a first place tie with the Elks, but they had eight points, one week into the start of the second half.

A new high team game of 995 was set by Mamel. Instrumental in establishing the new mark were Phyllis Boccanfuso, 193 (71 pins over her average) and Lorrie Zaroska, 171. Other high single games were Edda Collins' 186 and Pat Brown's 184. Edda rolls for Irene's Day Nursery and Pat for Swiss Colonial Diner.

Tied for second place in the team standings are Irene's Day Nursery and Rock & Mamel, each with six points. Mamel and Mettler "B" have four each.

NAB TWO SHOPLIFTERS
In Separate Attempts Friday. A 68-year-old Philadelphia man and a 21-year-old University Student, who abated a penchant for shoplifting, were arrested by Borough police Friday following separate incidents on Nassau Street.

Charles Jenkins of Philadelphia was grabbed at 10:42 Friday morning in front of the 2nd Look Shop by Sgt. John Bellow and P.I. Victor Fasanello. The manager of the shop told police he had heard coat hangers rattling in the back and when the investigators and clerk man hurried past her into the street.

Stuffed in huge pockets in his coat, police said, were women's articles of clothing valued at $108. He was sentenced to 30 days in the Mercer County Workhouse Monday by Judge Theodore T. Tamm.

"He was a professional," said Chief Peter J. McCrohan. Those huge pockets were stuffed with women's clothes inside lining and he had big safety pins scattered about inside, which he could hang things.

The student was Sheldon J. Reaven, a University senior who lives at 86 Nassau Street. On Friday, Carl Snively, manager of Westchester Book Store on Nassau Street, told P.I. Anthony Ranfone on foot patrol that Reaven has just stolen a 60-cent paperback.

Mr. Snively signed a complaint charging the student with shoplifting. He was fined $25 Monday in court by Judge Tams.

VANDALS DAMAGE HOME
On Bertrand Drive, a lot being constructed on a home by Bertrand Drive by the San Dean Construction Company, 4 Charlton Street, was the object of a night of vandalism by vandals Monday night.

Sometime during the night, wooden cabinets in the kitchen and bathroom were damaged, as were several walls on the first and second floors. Doors were smashed and a rear window in the living room broken, causing an estimated damage in all at $1,500.

"It's lousy that is going on," said Lt. Fred Porter of the Township police. It was the second report of vandalism on Bertrand Drive in three days.

In the Borough, the oft-smashed window of the Fover Pharmacy, 160 Witherspoon Street, were smashed again. This time, a brick was thrown through the upper right-hand corner of a 10 by 10-foot front window. There was no attempt entry.

P.I. William Hunter reported he heard the alarm sounding at 1:05 Sunday morning while he was on patrol.

Every little

Always seems

A sneeze.

Even though the January thaw has brought milder than normal temperatures, viruses and the flu bug continue to make their presence felt.

A dip in the thermometer is due long about Friday night. Something will be likely, too; precipitation for the month is more than two inches below normal, and when things begin to even up, watch out!

Princeton Arms North, Cranbury, January 16; and Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Turchi, 162 Nassau Street, January 17.

Boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Williams, B-14 Westerline Arms, Hightstown, January 12; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chase, 5-U Hibben Apartments, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Geller, 16 Alexander Street, all on January 13; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Starr, 10 Zachary Lane, Yardville, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Strauss, 9-4 Wynbrook West, Hightstown, both on January 14; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Brown, 400 W. Fern Road, Morrisville, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sidel, 188 Kendall Road, Kendall Park, and Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Morgan, Bedens Brook Road, Blawenburg, all on January 15; Mr. and Mrs. John Berlenbach, 300 Park Avenue, Hightstown, January 16; Mr. and Mrs. William Springer, 220-C Eisenhower Street, and Mr. and Mrs. William Baker, Leoket Terrace, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lewis, Cranbury, all on January 17.

CIVIL RIGHTS OFFICE?
May Be in Youth Center. Princeton's new Civil Rights Commission may set up headquarters in the Youth Center building, Witherspoon and Green Streets.

Borough Mayor Henry S. Patterson said his press conference last week that Borough and Township officials had talked over possible locations with Gordon Mack, who was chairman of the Civil Rights study committee.

Everyone agreed that the new Commission should not be located in either municipal building, the mayor said. Rental locations in the center of town were discussed, he added, but the rent-free, centrally-located Youth Center seemed particularly appealing.

Neither mayor has yet announced his appointments to the Commission.

NEED EXTRA MONEY?
Two New Crossing Guards. The Township is seeking three Borough or Township residents to serve as school crossing guards in the Township.

Applicants, male or female, should apply at Township Police Headquarters or call 821-2100. The minimum age is 21. In addition, they must be citizens and have no criminal record.

Lt. Fred Porter reported that morning crossing duty usually lasts from 7:50 to 8:30, afternoon crossing from 2:40 to 3:00 and noon crossings, when available, about one hour.

Guards working two crossings receive $5.50 a day; those working three crossings a day get $7.50. "It's an excellent opportunity for a retired person to earn a little extra without exceeding the level for income tax," Lt. Porter said.

Obituaries

John P. Radlic, 57, of 12 Marion Drive, Belle Mead, was killed January 16 when his car struck a utility pole on Route 27 in Franklin Township. On his way to New Brunswick, where he was distributing for the CF&I Steel Corp., he reportedly swerved to avoid a car making a left turn in front of him.

A native of Belaire, O., Mr. Radlic graduated from Princeton University in 1935. He was quarterback on the Princeton football team in 1933 which won Columbia, 20 to 0, the Lions going on to defeat Stanford in the Rose-Bowl. In his senior year, he was the winner of the Poe Cup, highest award the University gives to a football player.

Following graduation, Mr. Radlic was for a time an assistant football coach at Princeton. He was a veteran of World War II, having been honorably discharged with the rank of lieutenant after serving from 1942 to 1946.

Surviving are his wife, Irene Cox Radlic; a son, John P. Jr., for St. Louis; a daughter, Mrs. Suzanne K. Calhoun of Haddonfield; two brothers, Joseph M. of West Virginia and Martin H. of Belaire; and four grandchildren.

Requiem high mass was held at St. Paul's Church, Princeton, with burial in the parish cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Kimble Funeral Home.

responsible people in the community.

"I think Princeton has come to rely on pressure groups to get things done," which is what board member Wilbert Brooks believed. "I don't believe in pressure groups. I feel most such groups come up with theories but are faced with real problems—salaries, fees . . . we can't handle two months thrashing out theories."

To Mr. Chase's plan to go to interested and responsible people beforehand, get their support, and then go to the board, Mr. Josephine H. Mathey remarked, "You say

Waiting List for Pools

"lets get people who object behind us. But any advisory group must be representative and broad. You have to be very, very careful about this. We don't want you, what it won't be."

Mr. Chase felt the people should come to the board, Mr. Barr opted for the board going first to the people. While he felt it was an excellent idea to go to the community in one way or another, Mr. Barr warned: "In talking about the first step to overcome before you get something done. We've gathered a lot of information these past two years. We've got to get together, formulate policy and then go to the community."

Here, this is what we're proposing. What is your reaction? Other than have they come to us and say, 'We're reacting to fees or we're reacting to scholarships.'"

"I think this one-to-one contact with the middle man of an advisory board is the most democratic and most effective way. I think the Joint Recreation Board is a sounding board, it should be aware of what the community wants and I think we are."

At one point Mr. Chase said, "I can get warm about the pools in January." The board is keeping its fingers crossed it won't be another hot spring.

"RESISTORS" NEED YOU
And You Need a Dog. The RESISTORS, Princeton's organization of young computer scholars, has almost enough money to buy the furnace that will heat their barn.

If two people buy two remaining "bored" Malemate puppies, the furnace is in. RESISTORS have been selling Malemates from this litter with great success, and the puppies are now three months old and irresistible, even to a RESISTOR.

Puppies may be ordered by calling Miss Hunter, 924-0400 on weekday evenings, Saturdays, Miss Hunter is in the RESISTORS' barn, working with computers.

Miss Hunter declines to say how much the puppies area. The price is subject to bargaining.

Last Tuesday, a camera crew from Channel 4 visited the RESISTORS' barn on the Mt. Rose-Pennington Road (it's really Claude Kagan's barn) to shoot footage that may possibly be used on the Bell Telephone Hour.

Those interested in attending or contributing to the fund may contact Mrs. David H. Taylor, Cherry Valley Road, 921-8391, or Mrs. James Briscoe, 142 Harding Avenue, Trenton, 925-3292.

"GENERAL LEE HOUSE"

A member of Washington Staff, General Lee was quartered in this classic center hall Colonial during the planning of the Battle of Monmouth. The house is constructed of stone, brick and wood and was completely rebuilt in 1965. It was a combination of rustic charm and modern convenience.

Gracious lines, beamed ceilings and 4 working fireplaces are just a few of the delightful features. Modern kitchen with wall to wall carpeting; breakfast room has 20' oak table ideal as project space for kiddies or for feeding the tribe; paneled powder room; rustic dining room with walk-in fire place and chestnut beamed ceiling; carpeted on second floor with cathedral ceiling and built-in bar; spacious living room with fireplace and attractive library with fireplace. Three bedrooms.

The house is set mid terraced lawn, brick walls, and tasteful landscaping. Surrounded by approximately 10 acres; there are 2 springs and 1 pond on property; picnic grounds; fenced paddock and horse barn. A marvelous stone barn ripe for restoration as guest or playhouse. Heated swimming pool with hidden lighting and magnificent view of valley.

This is without a doubt one of the best values we have seen in an authentic Colonial in a long time.

Offered at $72,500

It does things other small cars shouldn't do.

Cornering at high speeds is one of the best things to expect small cars to do, successfully. Unless it's a SAAB, the out-of-the-ordinary small car. Out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like others do. It pulls you around corners, curves and other drivers' mistakes. Is that all SAAB has? Not on your life. Most ordinary cars don't give you, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features. As an optional extra, our new V-6 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE. You can drive it like a big car.

HOUSE WANTED to rent: Mother, 6 year old child with live-in housekeeper. Home in Princeton, general area; 1 bedroom. Please call Mrs. Robinson 207-37400 after 1 p.m.

CHARMING . . . this tiny lane displays some of the most beautiful foliage in Princeton. Most of the homes are small, and so are the families — young adults with one or two children, or retired people lured here by the beauty of the street. This small house has living room, dining room, 2 bedrooms and a brand-new tiled bath, and a modern kitchen with a screened deck outside where one can bask over a late breakfast and listen to the brook bubbling in the back yard. Downstairs it has recreation room, with windows and a door leading to the garden, which makes this a good-sized house when it comes to entertaining. New refrigerator-freezer and combination washer-dryer included . . . also wall-to-wall carpeting and some furniture. (*) $34,500

NEW COLONIAL . . . located on a quiet cul-de-sac among tall trees, and only a few minutes away from the Junction. Ideal for a commuter. Lots of children in this neighborhood of custom-built homes. Living room, dining room, lovely modern kitchen with large eating area, family room with fireplace, 2-car attached garage, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths and a powder room. We suggest you see this home soon, while there is still time to select colors, tile, etc. $16,500

BIG FAMILY? . . . here is a large 5-bedroom house on a spacious lot in a fine neighborhood with plenty of playmates for your children. Foyer, large living room, dining room, great kitchen, and powder room on first floor. Paneled family room with fireplace and another powder room. Big game room in the basement. Upstairs: 5 bedrooms, 2 baths, large closets. Wall-to-wall carpeting on first floor and stairs. (*) $64,500

LAWRENCE . . . two-story stone and frame Colonial, located in a fine residential neighborhood with many towering trees. Large living & dining rooms. Lovely new kitchen, plus butler's pantry. Two fireplaces, 6 bedrooms, 4 baths and powder room. Located near a college and across the road from a golf club, this fine home is a place you'll love to live in and always be proud of. $79,500

SUPERB LOCATION . . . on a quiet street in the Western Section, with great shade trees, this fine stone residence was built to endure. No expense was spared in its construction. To replace it today would cost a fortune. The rooms are large, with high ceilings and tall windows. The architecture and proportions will provide the ideal background for your most precious antiques. Six bedrooms, 4 baths, 2 maid's rooms and bath. Powder room on ground floor. Fireplaces in library, living room, dining room and master bedroom. Situated on a large lot, it faces its own lovely garden, and features a big stone terrace for outdoor entertaining. Right now, this is, we believe, the finest large old house available in Princeton. Phone for appointment. $169,500

(*) Many more fine homes in Princeton & vicinity in a wide price range. Ample parking space for our clients.
